

More seminar news

We will be talking about UV Technology for Encapsulation at a seminar on Tuesday next week, March 10, at the Williams F1 Centre, Grove, Oxfordshire.

It is under the aegis of the UK Display and Lighting Knowledge Transfer Network. The network has been set up by the Technology Strategy Board as a means of encouraging networking and knowledge transfer opportunities within the displays, plastic electronics and lighting industry. One of the events arranged for 2009 is a one day seminar on Integrating Plastic Electronics which addresses the issues related to turning plastic electronics technology into products.
