

New magazine and website about medical device technology

We welcome the new venture from some old friends, Colin and Annie. Med-Tech Innovation is a brand new media platform for the UK and Irish medical device research, design and manufacturing community. There has never been one information resource that provides dedicated technical, product, industry, academic and association content for and about the UK and Irish marketplace in this field. The website has been launched, and the first printed magazine has hit the streets. Looks great! They have been kind enough to publish some of our new as well: (1) (2)
